

Understanding biology better

Describe the reactions occurring in the Grana and the Stroma of a typical plastid in as much detail as possible with the help of the slides, notes and links of the videos.

[Hint- Grana is place where light dependent reactions of photosynthesis; Stroma is where light independent reactions take place.]

